

WINE SPECTATOR'S
GRAND TOUR

WINE TASTING ETIQUETTE

Wine Spectator is thrilled to welcome you to the 2021 Grand Tour! To provide as safe an environment as possible at the event, please take a moment to review the following protocols and etiquette.

- Masks are required while waiting in line to enter the Grand Tour.
- Please observe social distancing on registration and winery booth lines. If a booth is very busy, please find another wine to enjoy and come back later.
- Winery representatives and guests are strongly encouraged to wear masks when not actively eating or drinking.
- Dump buckets are exclusively for rinsing glasses this year; no spitting is allowed in communal dump buckets. Individual paper cups are stationed throughout the event floor for your personal use.

For Your Health & Safety

- All guests and exhibitors must provide proof of vaccination to attend.
- Food offerings at the Grand Tour have been adjusted to provide more individual grab-and-go options and chef attended stations.
- Hand sanitizer stations are available throughout the event floor.
- Additional masks are available upon request at Will Call.

Safe & Happy Tasting — Cheers!
